Hi,

I've spent 30 years in Silicon Valley designing and architecting software, at PayPal, Yahoo, Chegg and IBM and now at my own studio, Profullstack. These days I write 100% of my code with AI agents (Claude Code, Codex, Cursor), and I spend my time where it matters: the design, the architecture, and reviewing what ships.

That's how one person runs a fleet of live products. You can see the work at profullstack.com and the code at github.com/profullstack: TronBrowser, ThreatCrush, CoinPay, ugig and more, all built and shipped this way.

I'd love to bring that to your team. Happy to talk whenever suits you.

Anthony
